Dear Brendan:

Enclosed for your completion, delectation and information are several documents relevant to the trip to Germany.

First and foremost, it is important that you submit the required paperwork to:

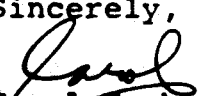

Dr. Manfred Stassen
German Academic Exchange Service
535 Fifth Avenue, Suite 1107
New York, New York 10007

as soon as possible. As I mentioned, it was due on March 15th! In addition to the form, you are supposed to submit a resume, a list of publications (where appropriate) and a statement of intent. With regard to the latter, I've enclosed some suggestions. Please feel free to use or reject any of them and to add any items of your own.

Bill Barnes and I will of course, be delighted to have you do a report to the Human Development Steering Committee upon your return. You might also want to think about writing a piece for Nation's Cities Weekly.

If you need any help, let me know. In the meantime -- gute Reise!

Sincerely,

Carol Kocheisen

announces

the Special Information Program (in English)

" G e r m a n y T o d a y "

June 26 - July 15, 1983

in Bonn and Berlin

DAAD is a private self-governing organization of the universities in the Federal Republic of Germany and the largest German agency promoting international relations between institutions of higher education through academic and scientific exchange. DAAD's programs are almost entirely funded from governmental sources.

To further the mutual understanding of the constitutional and political structures, the social and economic systems of our two countries, and of current issues relevant to the transatlantic dialogue, DAAD offers a special three-week information program in Bonn and Berlin. The program, conducted entirely in English, is designed for a group of 30 distinguished members of American professional schools and graduate research universities as well as for leading representatives of public life.

The Program

The program conducted in cooperation with the University of Bonn and DAAD's office in Berlin features presentations by speakers drawn from a wide variety of institutions and fields: Departments of Federal and State Governments, political parties and labor unions, industry as well as the media and other cultural and academic organizations. Informal discussion groups on topics of special interest to the participants will be included. In addition, cultural events and excursions will be arranged. Weekends will be free for individual plans and activities.

The program begins on June 26, 1983 and ends July 15 (arrival and departure date, resp.). The setting for the major part of the program is the Rheinische-Friedrich-Wilhelms-Universität Bonn, a university of about 38,000 students. Bonn, the capital of the Federal Republic of Germany, is located in the heart of the Rhineland, one of Germany's major cultural and industrial areas. As the seat of the Federal Government, Bonn enjoys a large international community, but remains essentially a small city that combines its cultural past with a strong involvement in the present.

Approximately one week will be spent in Berlin (West). The special political and historical situation of the former capital of Germany offers a unique background for the further exploration of contemporary issues.

The invitation covers: International and program-related domestic travel; hotel accommodation; meals; tuition; expenses for cultural events and excursions. Incidentals and meals on weekends are the responsibility of the participants. Due to the special nature of the program, family members can, unfortunately, not be accommodated.

Representatives of universities, professional schools and the public domain who are U.S. citizens and have not spent an extended period of time in Germany before, but who can demonstrate a professional interest in German-American relations, are encouraged to submit the enclosed form. It should be accompanied by a curriculum vitae, list of publications (where applicable), a statement of intent (not exceeding 2 pages). All materials should reach DAAD's office in New York on or before March 15, 1983.

A committee convened by DAAD especially for this program will select the prospective candidates, and DAAD will extend an invitation ad personam in late March.

Dear Mes. König:

On behalf of the National League of Cities, I would like to nominate Alderman Brendan J. Kennedy to participate in your special information exchange program scheduled for June 26 through July 15 in the Federal Republic of Germany.

Alderman Kennedy is a member of the city council of New Britain, Connecticut, as well as the executive assistant to the Executive Director of Connecticut State University. He currently serves as Vice Chairman of NLC's Human Development Policy Committee and had served on the Steering Committee for a number of years.

We believe Germany has inaugurated a number of innovative and creative solutions to employment problems which can be replicated in our country. Not only can Mr. Kennedy benefit from the experience personally, but in his capacity as Vice Chairman of our Human Development Committee many other city officials will have an opportunity to learn from his experiences.

Mr. Kennedy will forward the required documents directly to Dr. Stassen early next week.

Thank you for providing us with the opportunity to learn at first hand about your programs.

Sincerely,

Alan Beals
Executive Director

Dear Mr. Beals,

I should like to draw your attention to a special DAAD information program in Bonn and Berlin (West) to be held from June 26 to July 15, 1983.

The program was originally designed for academic Deans and senior faculty members at major graduate research institutions only; as a response to President Reagan's and Federal President Carstens' initiative to improve the exchange of information between the successor generations of both our countries, the DAAD has proposed to also include this year leading representatives of public life ("Young Political Leaders").

Should you be interested in this program, I would appreciate if you could nominate one delegate representing the National League of Cities and have him or her complete the enclosed application form which should be sent to me before March 10, 1983.

I look forward to hearing from you.

Yours sincerely,

Dear Professor Kennedy:

I take great pleasure in inviting you to the German Academic Exchange Service's special information program in Bonn and Berlin,

"Germany Today"

from June 26 - July 15.

A detailed program together with all necessary logistical information will be sent to you in mid-April, after we shall have received your confirmation note.

To facilitate your planning in the next few weeks, I should like to add that the participants are expected to make their own travel arrangements (to arrive in Bonn on June 26, with the departure date from Bonn set for July 15). DAAD-New York will forward to you a check in the amount of the equivalent of DM 1,300 - 1,600 to cover the most advantageous international travel costs. Costs for program-related travel within Germany will be borne by DAAD-Bonn.

During your stay in Bonn you will be accommodated at the

Gustav-Stresemann-Institut
