POLICY ON FACULTY EXCHANGE within the CONNECTICUT STATE UNIVERSITY

June 15, 1984

- A faculty member wishing to teach for a limited period of time, normally a semester or year, at a Connecticut State University campus other than the campus at which he or she holds appointment informs his or her Academic Vice President of the details (time span, campus, etc.)
- 2. This is reviewed and approved/disapproved by the Academic Vice President after thorough review of the impact on the academic programs the faculty member serves.
- 3. If approved by the Academic Vice President, he or she will help the faculty member to communicate with the "receiving" campus.
- 4. These "exchanges" need not be on a one to one basis, but should average out over four or five years. This will require careful record keeping and monitoring by the Academic Vice Presidents.
- 5. Any exchange needs the approval of the Academic Vice Presidents of each of the campuses involved as well as the agreement of the relevent deans and departments.
- 6. Faculty members will continue to be paid through the home campus and will receive all benefits, including retirement, etc., for which they would ordinarily be eligible.
- 7. Faculty members must agree to adhere to the practices and policies of the receiving campus and shall be encouraged to participate in the life of that campus to the extent practicable.
- 8. The Connecticut State University will not be responsible for any relocation costs.
