ADMINISTRATIVE EXPERIENCEActing Graduate Dean, St. Joseph College (CT), 1987-

The Graduate and Undergraduate Deans report to the President, have responsibility and authority for their respective program areas and work as a team on faculty-related issues (e.g. hiring, evaluation, development, etc.). Current initiatives include the systematic analysis and review of all graduate programs, the development of a strategic plan, and the evaluation of off-campus courses. St. Joseph College was selected by U.S. News & World Report in both 1985 and 1987 as one of the top 10 Eastern colleges.

American Council of Education Fellow, 1986-1987

Studied policy development/implementation, strategic planning, budgeting and fund raising at three schools; St. Joseph College, Trinity College, and Clark University. Directed a major study on retirement policy and early-retirement incentive programs in higher education with the ACE Center for Leadership Development.

Chair, Psychology Department, University of Hartford, 1984-1986

One of the largest departments in Arts and Sciences, Psychology offers a doctorate, four master's degree programs, plus a strong undergraduate program. During my tenure as chair the department:

- received state accreditation for the doctoral program.
- revised the undergraduate major, and restructured an MA program to focus on applied concentrations.
- instituted faculty student development programs, long-term curriculum driven course scheduling, and computerized department budget control.

The University of Hartford is an independent, comprehensive university consisting of eight colleges and professional schools.

Director, Academic Support Services, University of Hartford, 1977-1979

Equivalent to Assistant Dean. Responsible for faculty development programs for 105 full-time A & S faculty. Accomplishments included:

- creation of a grants resource center.
- implementation of a Faculty Mini-grants Program for innovation in classroom teaching and research seed money.
- organization and sponsorship of faculty workshops on teaching and grantsmanship.
