MEMORANDUM

TO: Dallas K. Beal, President
Connecticut State University

FROM: John W. Shumaker
President

SUBJ: CSU Professor

I am extremely pleased to forward to you the recommendation of the faculty at Central Connecticut State University that Professor Stanislaus Blejwas of our Department of History be Central Connecticut's first nominee for a CSU Professorship.

A faculty committee appointed according to the guidelines specified in the AAUP/BOT contracts recommended Professor Blejwas to me. I believe he is fully deserving of this special honor and is an ideal candidate for the first CSU Professorship.

Professor Blejwas has served the University for many years as a Director of our Polish Studies Program and as a Professor of History. He has built the Polish Studies Program into a model community based academic activity. In doing so he has generated tremendous public support for Central Connecticut State University.

At the same time, Professor Blejwas has been extraordinarily active as a scholar and teacher. As you will note in his attached resume, he is a prolific writer and speaker. His scholarly achievements reflect his dedication to the field of Polish Studies. Moreover, he is an outstanding teacher who inspires students to study topics in depth and with great intellectual care. Because of his outstanding record in public service, scholarship, teaching, and university service, he represents the paradigm of what a Connecticut State University professor should be.

Professor Blejwas is a great asset to the University and will wear the title of CSU Professorship with honor and dignity.

University Administrative Experience:

Coordinator of Polish Studies (1984-present), Central Connecticut State University, New Britain, CT.

Basic duties include teaching two Polish (history, political science, literature, or Polish American history)
courses a semester, and coordinating the Polish Studies Program.

Duties of Coordinator: organizing and promoting evening lectures, films, and cultural activities (over 120 events in a fifteen year period); developing the University's Polish Heritage Collection (the collection has increased from 50 to over 6,000 catalogues books and periodicals); maintaining liason with the Connecticut Polish American community; and fund raising (The Copernican Polish Heritage Endowment Fund has grown from $4,500 to over $80,000.
Additionally, a separate Martin & Sophie Grzyb Prize for Excellence In Polish Studies, with a principal of $5,000, has been established, as well as the Annual Fiedorczyk Lecture in Polish American Studies ($10,000 Endowment) and the Rudewicz Endowment ($5,000) for the support of the Connecticut Polish American Archives and Manuscript Collection.)

The Coordinator prepares an annual report, which is presented to the Polish Studies Advisory Committee (Executive Dean of Development, the Dean of Arts and Sciences, the Coordinator, and four members of the Polish community - Monsignor John P. Wodarski, Mr. Stanley Pac, Connecticut Commissioner of Environmental Protection, Mr. Theodore S. Kolzak, President of the Coleman Corporation, and Atty. Walter Kozloski of New Britain).

The Coordinator's fund-raising activities include the preparation and distribution of publicity materials; personal meetings with potential donors; deposit and acknowledgment of gifts; the listing of donors in the annual Polish Studies Program Newsletter; and arranging for the engraving and the addition of nameplates to the plaque for Polish Studies in the University library, which was unveiled in November, 1984.

Chairperson (1982-1986) of the University-wide Curriculum Committee

The Committee continually reviews and approves curriculum and academic program. There are 48 members of the Committee, which has six sub-committees. The Committee and its sub-committees meet regularly six times during the academic year.

The Chairperson's responsibilities include establishing and distributing the agenda; attendance at sub-committee meetings; chairing the full-committee meetings; organizing ad hoc committees as mandated by the Faculty Senate; preparing and distributing to the entire faculty the report of the full Committee; and presenting for approval the Committee report before the Faculty Senate. The Chair is assisted by a Recording Secretary and an Administrative Secretary.

The Curriculum Committee, next to the Faculty Senate, is the major faculty committee at the University.

Member (1985-1986 academic year) of the University Tenure and Promotion Committee.

The Committee reviews applications, interviews the candidates, and recommends to the President for tenure and promotion. This year 70 applications were reviewed.

Project Director (1986-1987) of a one-year grant ($59,000) for the National Historical Publications and Records Commission of the National Archives for the organizing and development of the Connecticut Polish American Archives and Manuscript Collection. The Project Director organized and wrote the grant application; obtained the approval of the necessary University administrators and of the state archivist; arranged for the advertisement of the two grant-funded positions; and interviewed, together with the library director and assistant director, and hired the grant staff (Field Director and Archival Assistant). The Project Director will be responsible for overseeing the project staff; arranging contacts for the donation of new materials; promoting the CPAAMC (production of brochure and newspaper articles, and organizing a Community Advisory Committee); filing quarterly and final reports; and overseeing the production and distribution of a catalogue for the CPAAMC.

In 1987 successfully lobbied for state ($25,000) and private ($7,000) funds for the CPAAMC. In 1988 successfully lobbied for the funding of two line-item positions for the CPAAMC with a total allocation of $63,000.

Project Director (1980-1982) of an oral history project, "Polish Survivors of the Holocaust."

The Project Director organized and wrote the grant application, which was funded by the Connecticut Humanities Council for $16,000; hired the Project Staff (a full-time bi-lingual typist-transcriber; two part-time bi-lingual interviewers; and a volunteer interviewer); and, together with a producer from Connecticut Public Radio, edited the materials and prepared a five-part program which was broadcast on the CPR in April, 1982.

The Project Director organized and coordinated staff meetings; arranged interviews and equipment for the interviewers; oversaw the transcription of interviews; prepared and filed the interim and the final reports; and co-produced the radio documentary.

Editor, Polish Studies Monographs (1982-present).

Established the monographic series, and organized and co-edited the first volume. Managed the entire project from soliciting essays and subscribers, arranging type-setting and book production, to distribution, publicity and sales.

Assistant Director, Institute on East Central Europe, Columbia University, 1970-1974.

Duties as Assistant Director included planning and management of annual $50,000 budget; editing and publication of Institute's annual Newsletter; student advising; assisting in the preparation and drafting of grant proposals (Ford Foundation, Jurzykowski Foundation, Greek Archdioceses of North and South America, and Volkswagen Foundation); administrative support for conferences; and scheduling of lecturers and visiting faculty fellows.

Additional responsibilities also included the compilation and editing of East Central European Studies: A Graduate Students Guide (1973).

Professional and Community Administrative Experience:

President, Polish American Historical Association (1986). Duties include arranging mid-year Executive Committee meeting; preparing program for annual business and academic meeting in December; liason with the American Historical Association; answering correspondence; appointing chairs of standing committees, and journal editor; and overseeing publication and finances.

President, Polish American Congress, District of Connecticut (1983-1987).

Organizing monthly, quarterly, and annual meetings for state-wide Polish American umbrella organization with 125 organizational and individual members. Duties include liason with Connecticut Senate and Congressional delegation; contact with media; organizing annual picnic and 40th anniversary banquet-fund raiser (435 guests); and liason with national PAC. Also convinced the members to purchase a computer for membership records and mailings.

Individual Group Leader and Director of Kosciuszko Foundation Summer Polish Language and Culture Program, Jagiellonian University, Cracow, Poland, July-August, 1973-1978, and Folk Art Program, Copernicus University, Torun, Poland, July-August, 1978.

Responsibility for student groups ranging in size from 60 to 125 individuals. Duties included liason with the Polish side, assuring student participation in program activities, answering student questions, lecturing on Polish and Polish American history, and preparing an evaluation at the end of each program for the Kosciuszko Foundation.

Teaching Experience:
